Cookies Policy

UK Agency Services website does capture or store personal information, such as user's IP address which is automatically recognised by the web server. This is used to record the number of visitors to our site and to help monitor the performance of individual web pages.

When we provide services, we want to make them easy, useful and reliable. Where services are delivered on the internet, this sometimes involves placing small amounts of information on your device, for example, your computer or mobile phone. These include small files known as cookies. They provide anonymous information and cannot be used to identify you personally.

These pieces of information are used to improve services for you through, for example:

- Enabling a service to recognise your device so you don't have to give the same information several times during one task.
- Recognising that you may already have given a username and password so you don't need to do it for every web page requested. This requires a session cookie and this expires when a visitor closes their browser.
- Measuring how many people are using services, so they can be made easier to use and there's enough capacity to ensure they are fast.
